

Vaccine information and Consent Form
Northwood Animal Hospital
(850) 385-8181

At Northwood Animal Hospital, we believe your pet's vaccines should be given based on life style and risk of exposure. Vaccinating at the appropriate age and at the appropriate intervals will greatly benefit your pet and protect against many life-threatening diseases. Decisions regarding which vaccines should be given and their frequency of administration are best determined by you and your veterinarian after careful analysis of your pet's lifestyle and risk of exposure.

The vaccines listed on this form are considered "core" and "non-core" by the American Veterinary Medical Association, American Animal Hospital Association and numerous state veterinary associations. All pets should receive core vaccinations, with boosters at appropriate intervals determined by your pet's exposure risk. Non-core vaccinations are administered if your pet's exposure risk warrants it.

In addition to your pet's vaccine schedule, he or she needs to have a complete physical examination and fecal parasite test twice yearly. These exams combined with a customized vaccine protocol will help us provide your pet with the best care possible. You will continue to receive a reminder card every 6 months for these services.
